Oli
DORN

Oli is one of the best Enduro mountain bikers in Germany and travels for the most part of the year. He loves his life on the road (and in the mountains), but still is a home bird. Good thing this doesn't have to be a contradiction and he can be mobile and at home at the same time.

So much to explore.

Our world deserves to be explored. There are so many mountains to climb, so many waves to surf, so many quiet corners to discover and special places to see. Your motorhome gives you the chance to experience the world in a unique, rewarding way – always independent and individual, right in the midst of nature.

The Sunlight team knows what it takes to enjoy the most beautiful spots on this planet – we have been there ourselves. Our motorhomes are reliable, versatile, manoeuvrable and of top quality – they are probably the best way to be at home on the road.

Get in, get rolling – there is so much to explore.

Balu

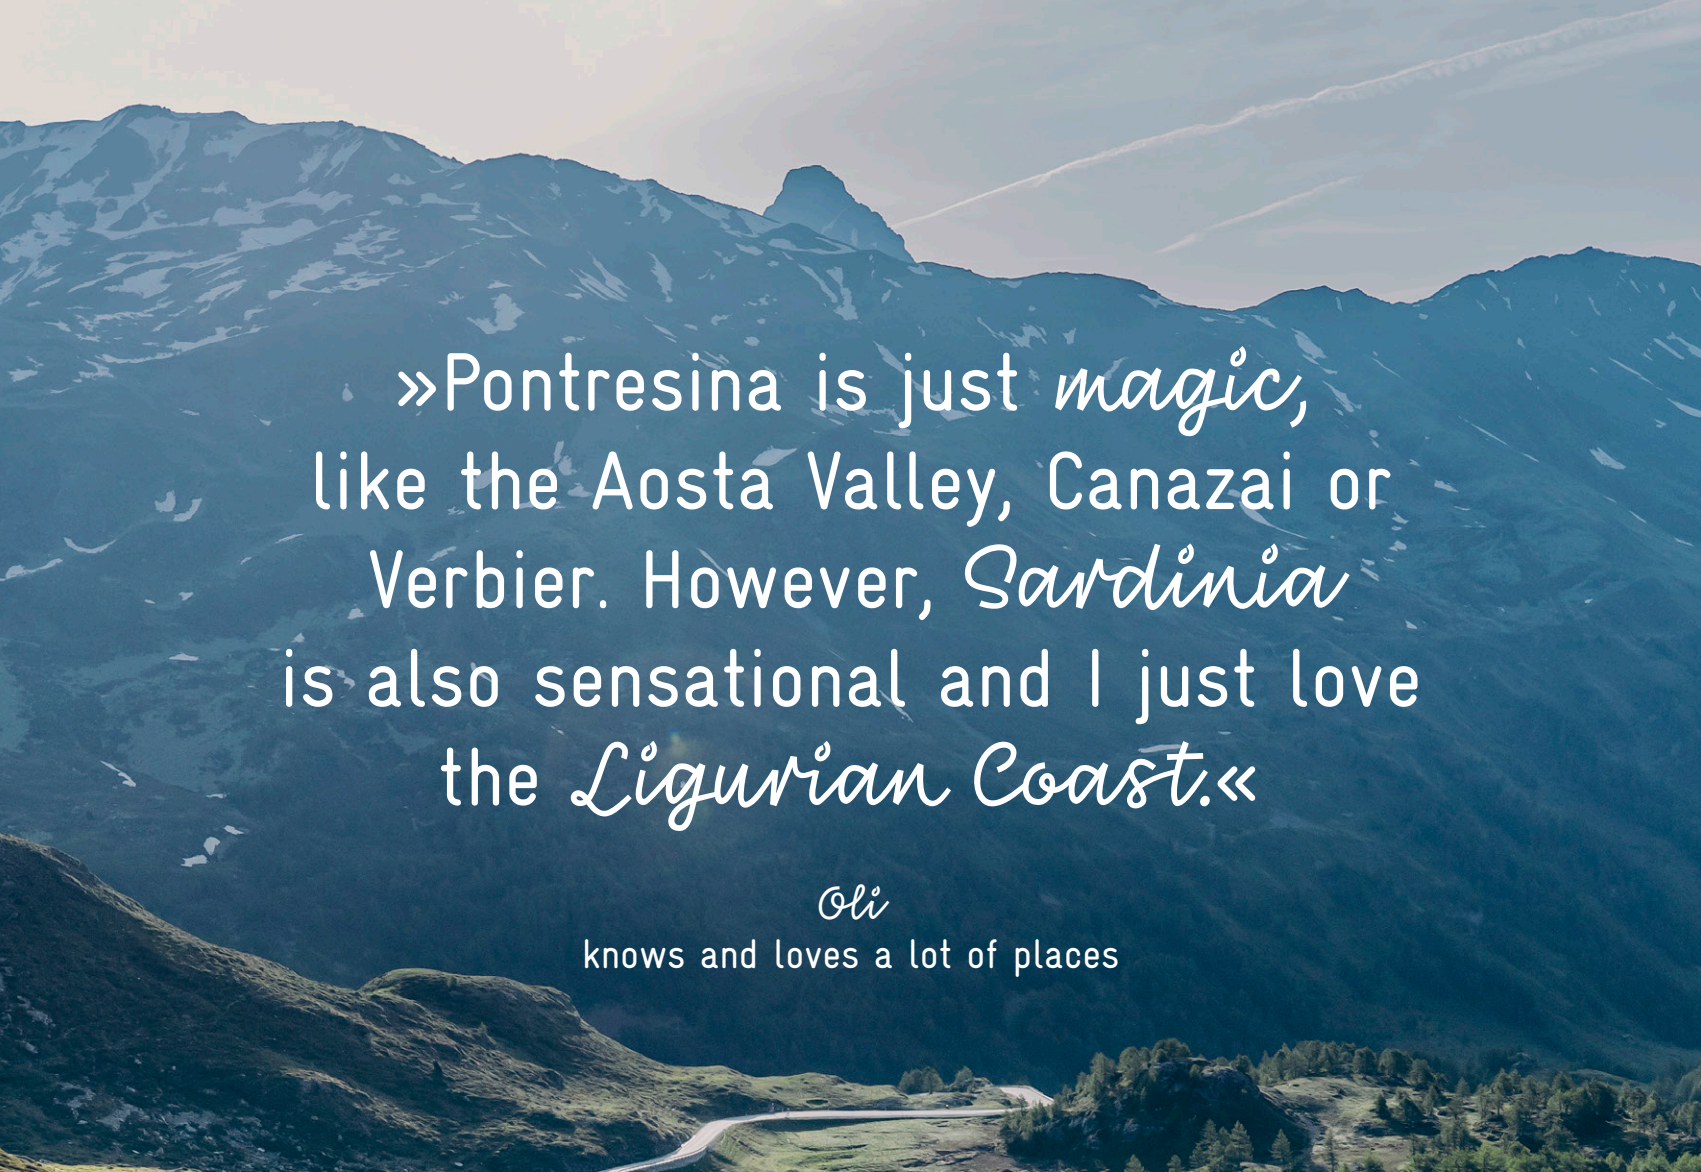

Balu is a 2-year-old Australian Shepherd. He may be younger than his master and has a fluffier coat, but otherwise he very much resembles Oli: both are curious about the world, get along with everyone and have an extreme urge to move – but both are family guys and enjoy the peaceful haven of their mobile home.

»My RV is a bike workshop on wheels with all the tools and spare parts you need for maintenance and service. When we are on tour we are sometimes pretty far from civilisation – and bike shops.«

is his own bike mechanic

»Pontresina is just magic,
like the Aosta Valley, Canazai or Verbier. However, Sardinia
is also sensational and I just love
the Ligurian Coast.«

Oli
knows and loves a lot of places

The Low Profiles – Compact & Smart

For Oli Dorn this versatile model is the perfect way to combine his bike career with family life. It offers a cosy, modern and convenient home for girlfriend Lisa, son Nino and dog Balu. While at the same time it is so compact and sporty that it rides smoothly along narrow, winding mountain roads.

The Coachbuilts – Extra Freedom on Top

One thing you know as an athlete: there is always room for more. That's why Guido Tschugg and the Coachbuilt are a perfect match. The overcab provides extra sleeping space and therefore additional room for his (very extensive) equipment – as well as for the other three heads of the family...

The A Class – All United

Paraglider Michael Gebert seldom travels by himself. With colleagues, photographers and all the equipment on board he needs organised space – a lot. The cockpit seamlessly blends into the living area and the clever design creates generous space while staying slim and slender: the A Class remains compact, sleek and manoeuvrable.

SOFT FURNISHING

For the interior you can choose between two styles: Macadamia and Maui Beach – both, of course, feature high-quality materials and excellent workmanship.

COMFORT

Clever solutions are not just made by fiddling around – you also have to experience things first hand. We have developed smart solutions based on theory and practical experience.

BATHROOM

It doesn't get much smaller or smarter than this: the bathroom area is perfectly designed and offers plenty of storage space in addition to a shower, washbasin and cassette toilet.

KITCHEN

High quality appliances, practical organisation, great implementation: with refrigerator, 3-burner hob, stainless steel sink and ergonomic work surfaces, nothing is missing in the Sunlight kitchen – except a hungry cook.

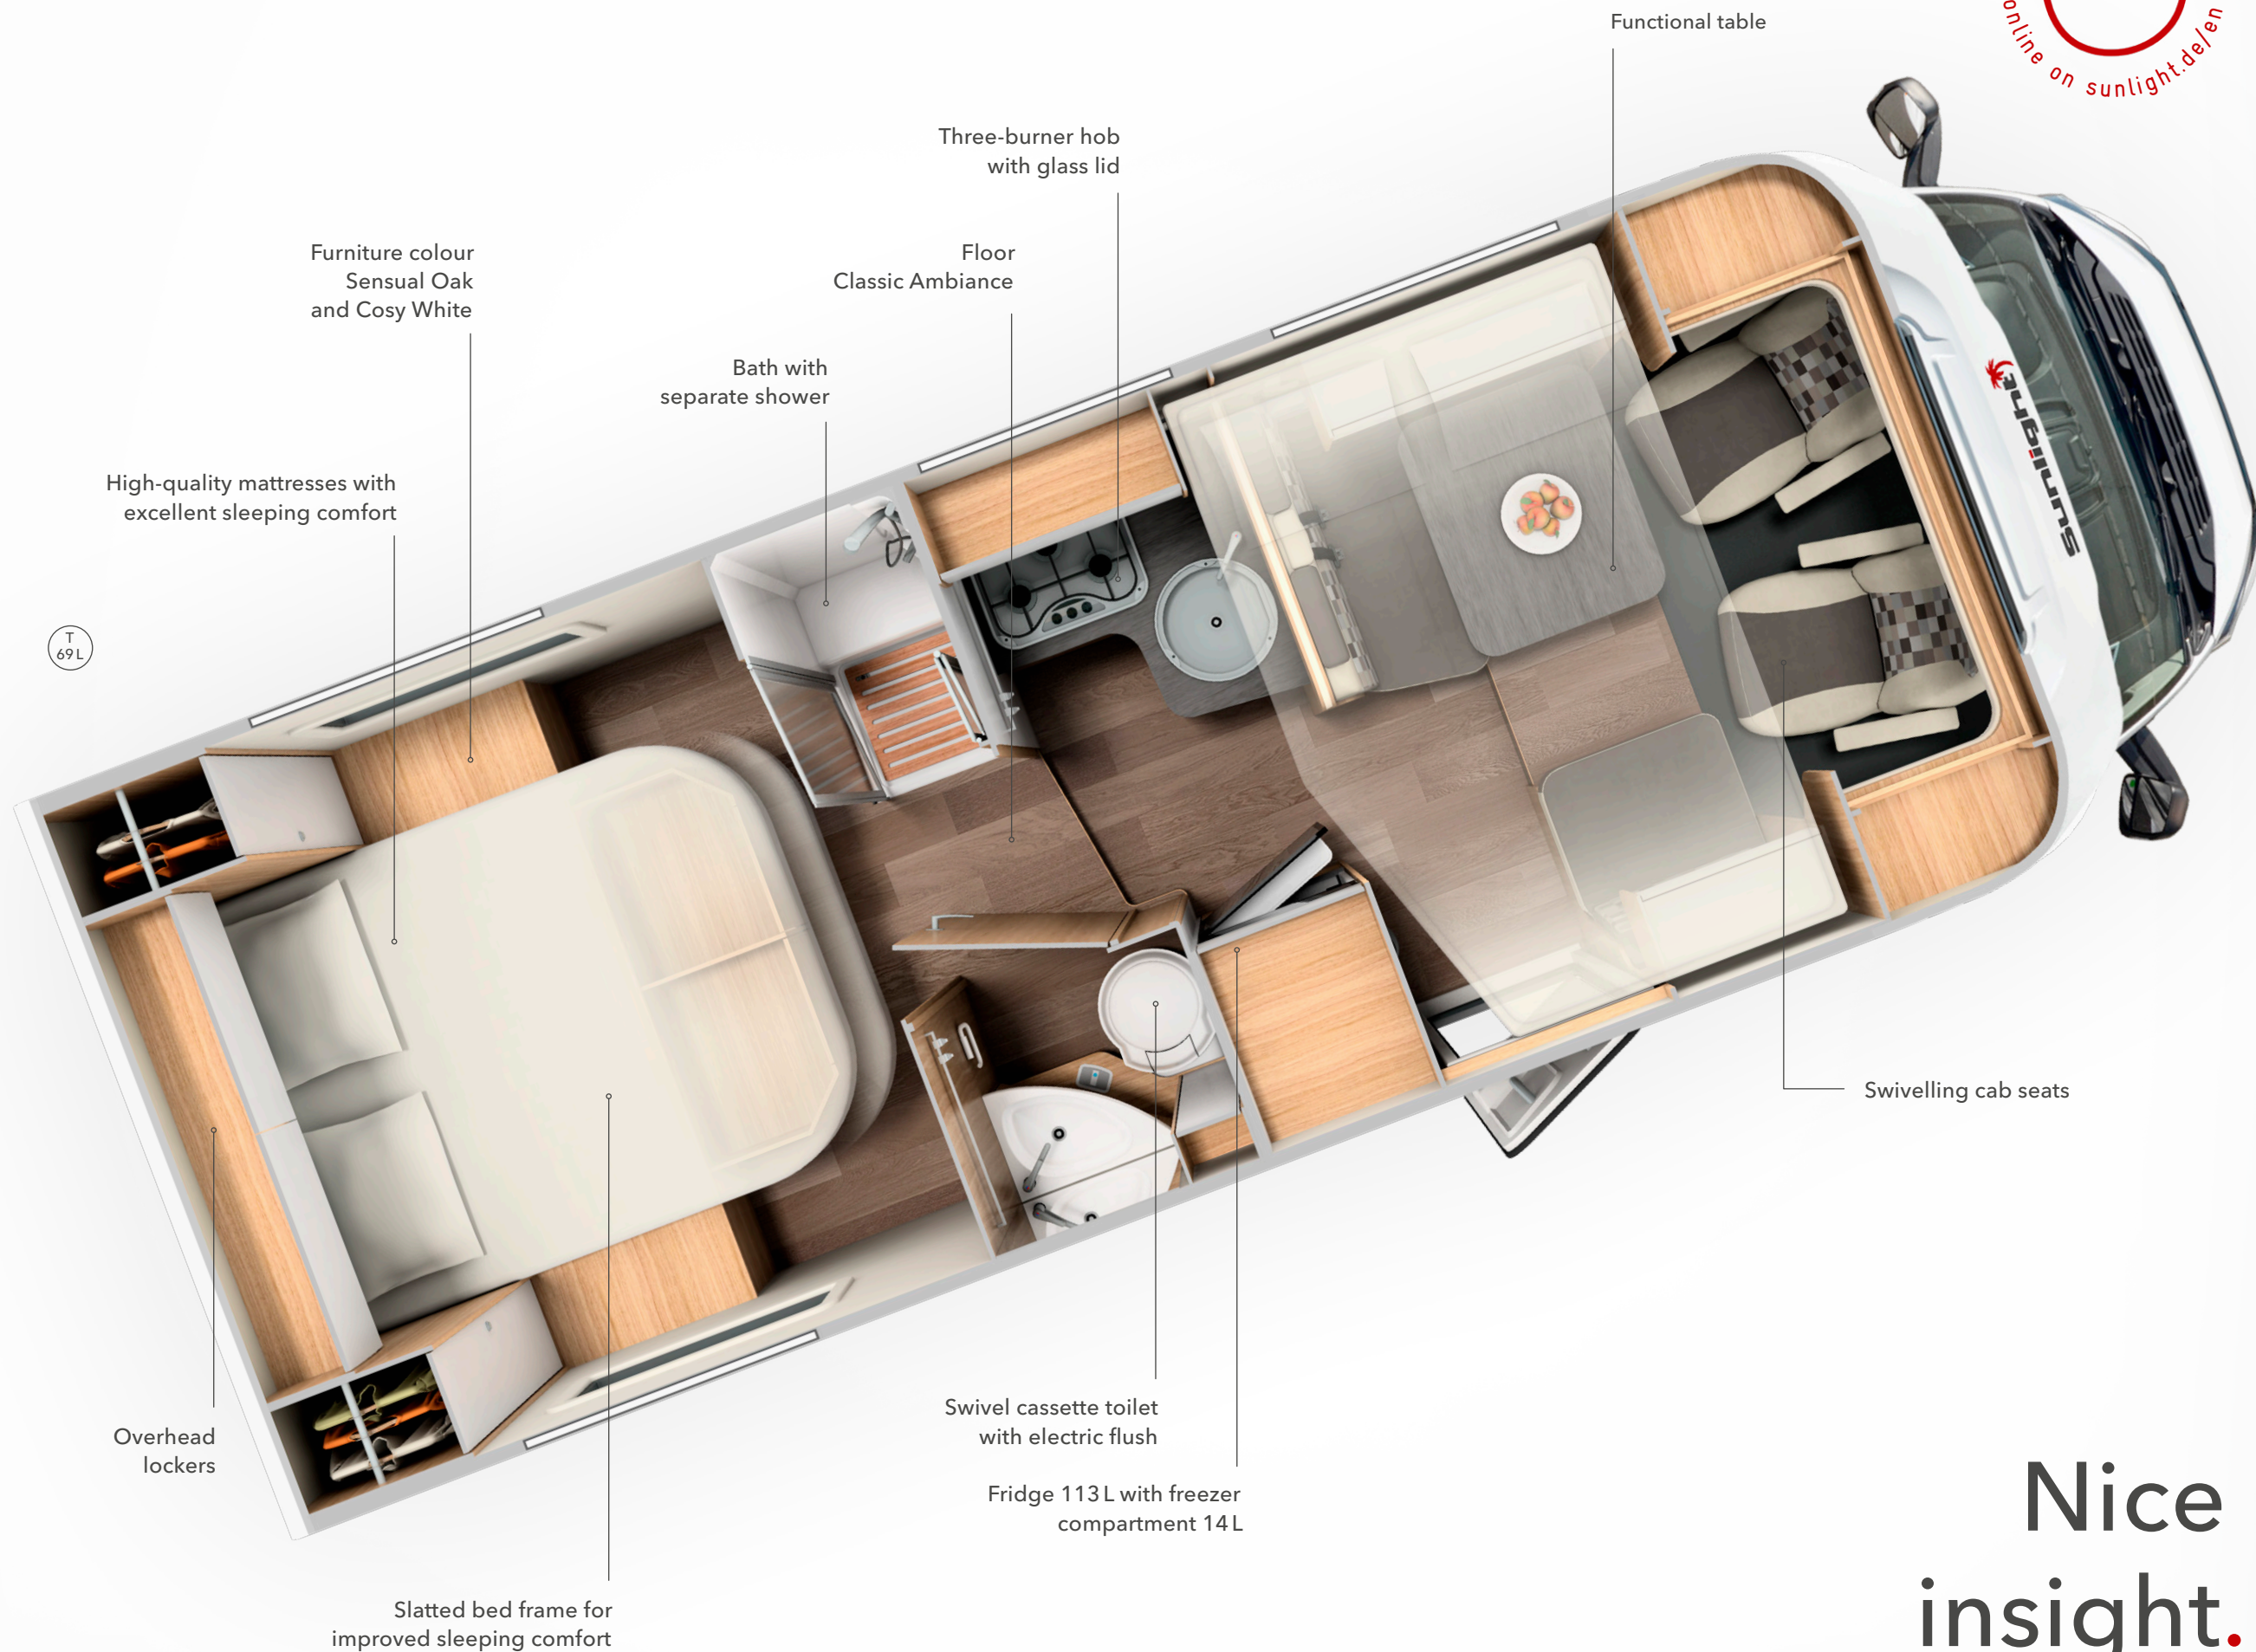

BEDROOM

Queen or French size, single or bunk bed, lengthwise or crosswise: depending on the model, Sunlight offers different bed variants, with wooden slatted frames and high-quality, allergy-friendly mattresses.

MOTORHOMES - COOKING

The kitchen with love for details: spacious drawers and overhead cupboards with soft-close system, a large round sink made of stainless steel with glass cover and high-quality built-in appliances.

Good Taste.

A place to enjoy – doing the work: everything is perfectly aligned in the kitchen of our Sunlight motorhome. The high-quality integrated appliances, the gas cooker, the sink and the smart work surfaces as well as the storage options. The perfect setting to compose a great dish.

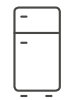

Feel free: with this kitchen, you won't want to look for a restaurant. It offers a generous area for cutting, slicing and dicing as well as spacious storage. Plus: it is perfectly organised and shines with its modern, clean design.

Up to comfortable heights.

Thanks to the pull-down bed with Clima-Plux elements the cockpit transforms into a spacious comfort zone. With the high-quality ladder the little ones get to their beloved bunk bed safe and easy.

During your holidays you usually have one thing to catch up on: sleep. That's why our top standard mattresses and flexible bed solutions are so precious. You can rest assured that you will enjoy a comfortable sleep—just make sure to set the alarm in case you want to get going early.

Top standard from shower to cupboard: only high-quality materials are used in the bathroom area.

Nice & clean.

If you don't have much room then it's good to have brains. We have designed the bathroom with shower, washbasin and cassette toilet in a multifunctional way and integrated some intelligent storage solutions as well as practical details.

»I might be dirty when I come back from work, but my son Nino is as good as me when it comes to making a mess. We both spend quite some time in the bathroom.«

»The motorhome gives me the chance to live my career as a professional biker and still have my family with me.«

Oli
professional mountain biker,
father and dog owner

Oli, you are travelling for more than half of the year. Are you a restless person?

OLI No, I don't think so. I am very curious about cultures, people and places, but I am not a restless or driven guy. It's my job and I only love travelling so much, because I usually have my base, my home with me: my family. The motorhome is our chance of combining these two poles: family and career. This is why our life is amazing.

Your girlfriend Lisa, your little son Nino and Balu, your dog, travel with you most of the time. Are they enjoying this, too?

OLI Absolutely. Lisa sees more of the places we go to than I do, because I am mostly on the trails biking. For Nino it's the perfect way to grow up and Balu loves it anyway.

Why is it so perfect for Nino?

OLI Well, one thing is that he grows up surrounded by nature. If the weather gives us the slightest of chances, he'll want to get out. He crawls on his blanket, discovers the meadows and now he is learning to walk and pulls himself up on the step. It's always a good sign for me if kids don't need a lot of toys. Nino is very frugal when it comes to that. And, of course, I like that he's into bikes, too. He can sit in front of them forever and just eyes them up.

And Balu watches over him?

OLI These two are inseparable. If Nino eats a bread it goes without saying that Balu gets at least half of it. And Balu never lets him out of his sight. It is also great to see that through travelling they are never shy of strangers at all. Wherever we go they feel at ease. As soon as Balu notices we get along with people they are part of the pack.

And in the RV itself? Do they like being inside as well?

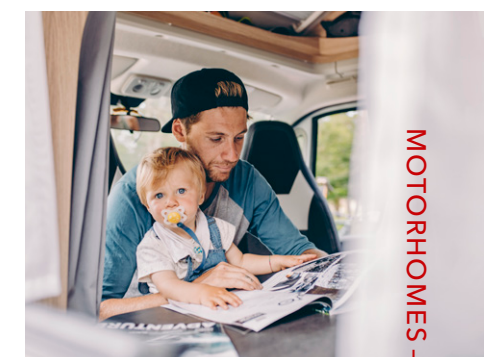

OLI Yes, absolutely. On the road Balu is lying between the seats since he has to know what is going on – or where we are going. His other favourite spot is under the table, because there he can see the door and all the action. He's a herding dog after all.

And as a family with a dog there is enough room for you in the T65?

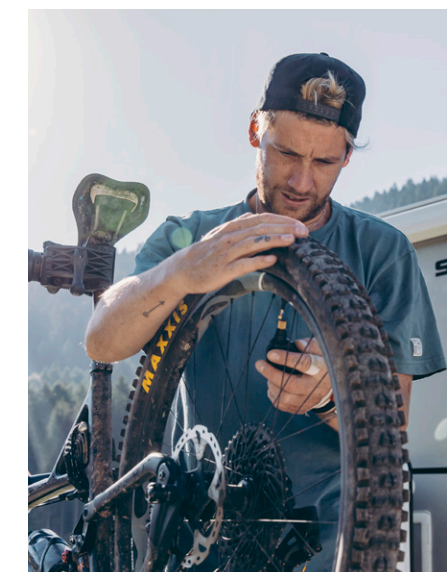

OLI Absolutely. Even when it's raining and we are in the motorhome quite a lot. During the day our double bed is Nino's playground. The windows are at one level with the bed so he can look out, see what is happening outside and is busy knocking against the window. And this he does until he falls asleep with his head resting against the window.

And what is your favourite feature of your motorhome?

OLI Gee, that's a hard one. But probably that you can have two separate rooms with the T65. If you open the bathroom door it turns into a closing bedroom door so that you have two single rooms. This is a superb solution.

»The motorhome is our chance of combining these two poles: family and career. This is why our life is amazing.«

And Nino's favourite spot?

OLI 100% the cockpit. It's such a highlight for him to sit in front on my lap and turn the steering wheel – not while I'm driving, of course... It's amazing what he's learning by just watching us. He sits there and reaches down to the gearshift and knows where the windshield wiper starts. Bicycles, motorhome and dog – that's his.

This way we won't disturb Nino when he's asleep and we are working on something. And vice versa, if I have to make a business phone call and need some quiet I just close the door. I also sometimes travel with photographers or filmmakers and then everyone has their own area as well. That's just fantastic.

Packing list

- Bikes & Baby Puree
- Helmet & Rattle
- Diapers & Dog Bowl
- Eggs & Fruits
- Laptop & Leash
- Backpack & Pram

It generally sounds like you live your dream ...

OLI Well, I'm not a fan of sketching out some idyllic scenery. I think this lifestyle is ideal for us, because we all like it that way and are a stable entity. I am a family man and a traveller at the same time. I'm just incredibly lucky and grateful that Lisa is ticking just like me – and Balu and Nino anyway. We're certainly not the average. But we always wanted to experience life to the fullest – and with one another. With our rolling home we have found the perfect solution. So actually, yes: we live our dream.

Interview with
Guido Tschugg

Bike legend, eBike pioneer and family man.

Guido
TSCHUGG

Are you also a clean guy when it comes to motorhomes? After all, biking and motocross are dirt sports?

GUIDO Well, I'm not super tidy folding each and every item for the closet... Yet, I don't want puddles of mud in my motorhome. When I get back from riding all dirty and sweaty, I hang my clothes up to rinse in the rear locker. It's heatable and thus stuff dries pretty quickly. That's perfect even for shoes and protectors.

»I make a fire, put down chair and table – that's just perfect to relax and unwind.«

You are generally very fond of the rear locker...

GUIDO (Laughs) True! It now has a power socket as well so I can charge my eBikes directly. That was my input to the product developers last year and now it's there. I can build my own Coachbuilt... No seriously, working with the Sunlight team is great. I don't just get a motorhome to travel the world showing the Sunlight logo. It's really about putting it to the test as a motor fanatic and a heavy user and then giving honest feedback.

»I love freedom, but I also need my base. I keep an entire second household in my Coachbuilt so that I'm ready to leave any time. I have the grill, the fire bowl, wood, tools, spare parts all in the rear locker. I get my eBikes in, sometimes also my motocross machine and set off.«

Guido, how many kilometres did you travel with your Coachbuilt last year?

GUIDO About 32,000 kms. We've been getting around a fair bit again. Southern Spain, Southern France, but we've also spent quite some time in Italy and Switzerland.

You are not just travelling with your family, but also on your own – why do you need an A70?

GUIDO Because it's my second home holding an entire second household – and that's quite extensive. You know I don't just bring underpants, shirts, shorts and toothbrush. All the equipment really needs a lot of space. I have several helmets, dozens of protectors and shoes. Plus, the A70 has the large rear locker, which is just perfect for me.

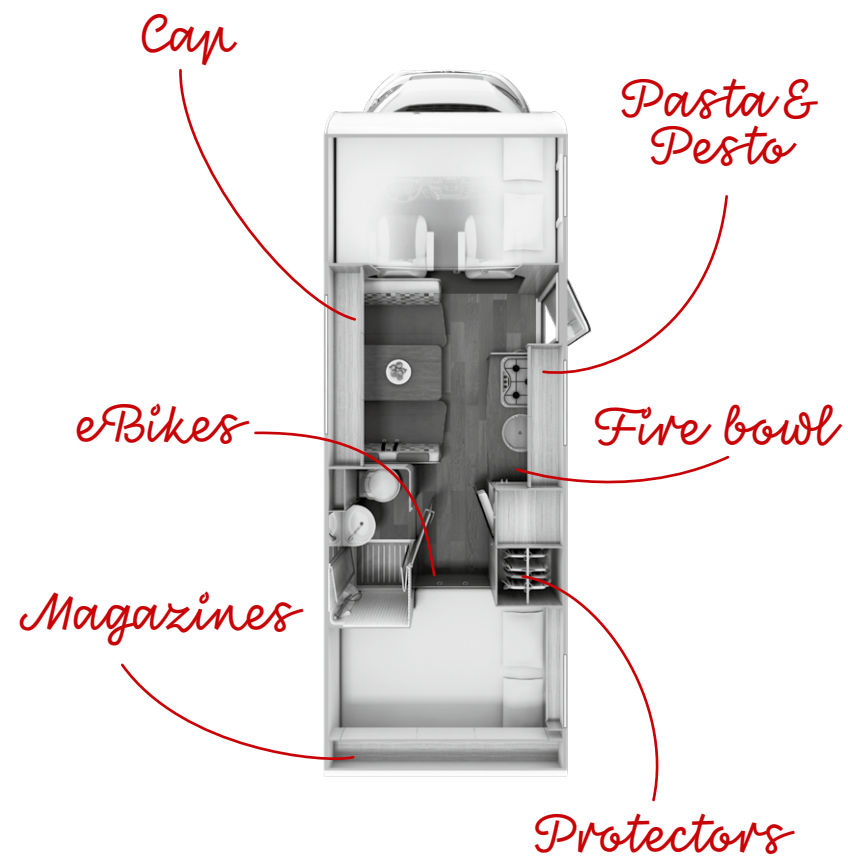

How many eBikes are parked there?

GUIDO That depends. There is room for five or six of them, but I usually travel with two plus my motocross bike. Then there is still enough space for the workshop and the spare parts with wheelset, tires, hoses, shift hanger etc.

You will need all the spares and tools. As a downhill pro you like rough tracks you sure have a certain wear and tear...

GUIDO People tend to think so, but that's not really the case. Our riding might look aggressive, but it's not. I am a very precise rider. Last year at the Downhill World Championships in Andorra I didn't even have a flat. Amateurs usually destroy more than pros. Racers ride a clean style and a clean line. Otherwise you won't win medals, but break stuff – bike parts and body parts.

Any other details in the Coachbuilt that make your life easier?

GUIDO Well, I really enjoy little things. The USB charging option at the table, for example, or the indirect lighting. It creates quite a romantic atmosphere – though that doesn't help when I'm travelling by myself without my wife. But it does look very nice.

And it radiates cosiness. You may be extremely fast on the trails, but off the trails you seem to be quite relaxed and chilled?

GUIDO I like it comfy, absolutely. I always bring my coffee equipment and I also take the time to cook. I don't really have a special diet as some athletes may, but I make sure it's fresh and tastes good. I love BBQ, too. I always take the grill as well as the fire bowl and wood. I make a fire, put down chair and table – that's just perfect to relax and unwind.

Guido TSCHUGG

Guido was already crazy about motorsports, when winning almost everything you can win internationally on BMX and MTB. The eBike became part of his (huge) fleet, while others were still mocking the bikes with drive. So he is not only »Germany's grand bike master«, but also one of the eBike pioneers worldwide. As he is always fine-tuning his gear and reflecting on details, he has become one of the most valuable sources of feedback for the Sunlight development team.

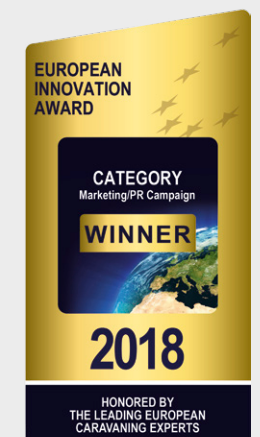

Michael GEBERT

He comes from one of the most beautiful regions of Germany, the Allgäu – and yet is hardly ever there. Michael travels the world as a paraglider eight months a year. From Albania to Australia, he has seen the world's most fascinating places from both, the ground and the sky.

Winning Team

The members of the Sunlight Factory Team are professional paragliders, mountain bikers, snowboarders and surfers that travel the world with their mobile homes. They return with valuable feedback for our product development crew and are the heart of our marketing campaigns. For this rather unusual concept we have been recognised with the European Innovation Award for the Caravaning Industry.

FREEDOM
Sunlight
IS MY LIFE

No matter the model, no matter the design, all our Sunlight motorhomes share a family credo: maximum reliability and maximum comfort for maximum freedom. We put so much heart and mind into them, because they are our home as well. We know what makes life on tour easier and we constantly work on the tiniest details. When it comes to motorhomes, we are in our element – we create the perfect setting for living the dream.
